| St. M. Student of Medicine. | |

Where a * indicates the death of one marked St. Th., it denotes the death before entering his profession.

The degree of A. M. has been so generally conferred, in course, on the regular graduates, up to the year 1850, that it has been deemed unnecessary to append these letters to the names. Since that time, this degree is conferred only on conditions, which may be found in the notices at the end of this catalogue.

Where a date is given immediately after a name, it indicates that the person did not receive the degree until the date so given, but his name is given with his class in college.

The Post Office addresses are given so far as known, and the place and date of the death of the deceased.

In many cases the address given is known not to be the present address, but it is the last known, and persons able to make corrections are earnestly requested to send them to the President of the College, as it is proposed to make the next General Catalogue a very complete and accurate edition.

Brief Historical Notice.

The early settlers of Western Pennsylvania, like those of New England, were distinguished for their love of religion and of learning. They planted the church and the school house side by side. The first ministers who were settled in this region, early directed their attention to the raising up of a ministry at home, for the supply of the wants of the growing population. For this purpose, mainly, several of them opened classical schools, in Log-Cabins near their own dwellings. The Rev. Messrs. JOHN M' MILLAN, JOSEPH SMITH and THADDEUS DOD, Pastors of the congregations of Chartiers, Buffalo and Ten Mile, had such schools in operation, between the years 1780 and 1790. The first of these men, if not the earliest, as is commonly believed, was the most efficient in this good work; and his "Latin School" has gained the most celebrity, from its intimate connection with the origin of Jefferson College. The Canonsburg Academy was commenced in 1791, under the patronage of COL. CANON, and Judges ALLISON, M'DOWELL, and others. To this, the pupils under the care of DR. M'MILLAN, were soon afterwards transferred.

The first Principal of the Academy was Mr. DAVID JOHNSTON, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He was assisted by Mr. (afterwards Prof.) SAMUEL MILLER, as Teacher of Mathematics. During the ensuing eleven years, the Academy continued to prosper, under various competent instructors; among whom were Messrs. JAMES CARNAHAN, afterwards President of Princeton College, and JOHN WATSON, afterwards first President of Jefferson College. In 1802 it was regularly chartered and organized as a College, being the first west of the mountains.

During its existence as an Academy, the course of instruction which it afforded, was but little less extensive than that of the colleges of that day in the East. Here many of the most distinguished men in the Western country received their education, and may be ranked among the honored Alumni of the Institution, although their names do not appear as graduates under the college charter. Among them we find the well known names of Cephas Dod, Elisha M'Curdy, Thos. E. Hughes, Thomas Marquis, Robert Johnson, Joseph Stockton, Samuel Tait, James Satterfield, Obadiah Jennings, D. D., Wm. Neill, D. D., James Ramsey, D. D., James Hoge, D. D., Thos. M'Giffin, Esq., Joseph Patterson, Esq., Hon. George Torrence, Gilbert M'Master, D. D., James Power, M. D., and many others.*

*An extended and excellent History of Jefferson College, by the Rev. Joseph Smith, D. D., author of "Old Redstone," was published in 1857, in which the Alumni and friends of the Institution will find an accurate and full account of the life of the College up to that date.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE,

Washington, Dc.

From the time it was Chartered, in 1806, until its
Union with Jefferson College, in 1865.

Historical Notice.

WASHINGTON ACADEMY, from which WASHINGTON COLLEGE sprung, was chartered by the Legislature, Sept. 24th, 1787—five years after the town of Washington was laid out, and six years after the establishment of Washington County, which was the first county formed after the Declaration of Independence, and only second to Westmoreland, the Mother County of the West. The act of incorporation names the following persons as its first Trustees, in the following order: Rev. JOHN M'MILLAN, Rev. JOSEPH SMITH, Rev. THADDEUS DODD, Rev. JNO. CLARK, Rev. MATTHEW HENDERSON, Rev. JNO. CORBLEY, JAS. MARSHALL, JAMES EDGAR, JOHN M. McDOWELL, ALEXANDER WRIGHT, JAMES ALLISON, THOMAS SCOTT, DAVID BRADFORD, JAMES ROSS, DAVID REDDICK, JOHN HOGE, ALEXANDER ADDISON, THOMAS CROOKS, JAMES FLANNAGAN, Dr. ABSALOM BAIRD, and JAMES BRICE.

The Academy received, by a provision in its charter, a donation of five thousand acres out of the public lands of the State, the value of which at the time was twenty cents per acre. This land was taken chiefly in what is now Beaver County. For a long time it was unproductive, and involved the Board in much expense, but was eventually sold and the proceeds judiciously applied in carrying on the Institution.

After much effort, the Academy was put in operation in 1789, under the Rev. THADDEUS DODD, who, in 1782, had opened, within his pastoral charge on Ten Mile, what its friends claim was "the first classical and scientific school in the west."

For the accommodation of the Academy, the upper rooms of the Court House were rented, and served the purpose until the building was destroyed by fire. This drove the Board to the erection of an Academy building, which is still standing, being the central stone building of the old College. In that building, and in the temporary structure which preceded it, David Johnston, James Dobbins, Benjamin Mills, and others, carried on the Academy with varying success during the years preceding its transformation into a College.

In the Spring of 1805, Rev. MATTHEW BROWN became at once Principal of the Academy and the first Pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Washington. He was assisted as Principal first by DAVID ELLIOTT, and afterwards by GEORGE BAIRD; and such was the success of the Institution, under their management, that, on the 28th of March, 1806, an act was passed by the Legislature granting the Trustees the charter of a College.

The minutes of the Trustees have no record of the graduates, until a meeting held Sept. 27th, 1831. This list of the Alumni was prepared by Thomas H. Elliott, M. D., after very great research and labor, and is believed to be entirely correct. It is certainly by far the most accurate ever yet published.

At the semi-centennial anniversary in 1856, a very full historical address was delivered by Rev. James I. Brownson, D. D., of the class of 1836. Most of the above is quoted from that address.

*By the terms of the agreement with the Synod of Wheeling, the members of the Board were to resign, and their places to be filled from the nominees of the Synod, except a quorum, who were to resign in like manner one year thereafter. The College was taken into the official connection with the Synod, Nov. 9, 1852, when, as will be seen, a large number did resign, many of these, however, being nominees of the Synod were immediately re-elected and took their seats. The same regulation included also the faculty, which will explain the resignation and the immediate re-election of Professors Alrich, Murray and McKennan, on the next day, Nov. 10, 1852.

GENERAL CATALOGUE OF

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON COLLEGE,

Washington, Pa.

From the Union of the Colleges until the present time.

Historical Notice.

At various times, beginning with 1807, the subject of a union between these Institutions was before their separate Boards of Trustees. No plan, however, could be agreed upon, until, in 1865, the subject was more pressingly urged, by the need of enlarged endowments and the offer of fifty thousand dollars by Rev. CHAS. C. BEATTY, D. D., LL. D., conditioned on such a union. After frequent conferences, a plan was agreed upon, and, on March 4, 1865, the act passed by the Legislature, on the application of both Boards, became a law, by the signature of the Governor. Finding more perfect consolidation than that proposed at first was indispensable to success, on application of the Board, an amendment was passed February 26th, 1869, and under this authority the College is now conducted.

The action of the Trustees being unsatisfactory to some, litigation ensued, bringing into the courts the legality of the proceedings, which, after trial, was decided in favor of the College, by the unanimous vote of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, before whom it was first argued; and their decision was afterwards affirmed by the unanimous vote of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, before whom it was argued on appeal. The litigation opened with an injunction which for the time being closed the Institution so far as the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes were concerned, and sent the students in those classes to other colleges. This accounts for the smallness of the classes of 1870-71-72. Since the decisions have restored public confidence, popular favor has returned, as is shown by the fact that eighty-four new Students have entered this college year.

In the consolidation, the college retained the names of both the old colleges in the new, and the alumni of both are reckoned as alumni of the present institution. The same is true of the literary societies, their present names being "Philo and Union," and "Franklin and Washington." The present endowment amounts to $220,000, and plans are now on foot for the erection of additional buildings adequate to the demands of the times.

Any person desiring more definite information in regard to the present institution is requested to correspond with the President or any member of the faculty.

General Information.

Two full four-year courses of study are now organized in the College, and it is the plan of the Trustees to enlarge and perfect these, and add others, as the demands of the public may require and the resources at their command will justify. Those who complete either of these will receive the diploma appropriate to that course which they have pursued, to wit: Those who complete the Classical Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and those who complete the Scientific Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Science. These degrees and diplomas are recognized by the Board of Trustees as representing an equal amount of training and culture, and the responsibility of choosing between them is left to the students or their parents and guardians. The honors of the College are equally open to both, and will be awarded on the basis of attainments, without respect to the studies selected.

THE CLASSICAL COURSE.

The Classical Course is the same in its general features as that heretofore adopted in the institutions now consolidated, and has been graded up to the standard of the best colleges of our land. It affords ample opportunity for the thorough study of the Ancient Languages and such branches of exact Science, Philosophy, and History as are best calculated to secure to the student the discipline and information needed in future life. It will be the endeavor of the Trustees and the Faculty to make it yearly more and more effective, complete, and inviting.

THE SCIENTIFIC COURSE.

This course has been arranged with special reference to the wants of American students, in view of the progress and peculiarities of our people, and the various occupations and duties which devolve on the young men of this country. The studies are taught in the same scientific and exact methods that have been proved to be the best by the experience of the educators of youth in the past. When the same branches are included in both courses, they are pursued by the students of both departments at the same stage of their progress and in the same class rooms. No effort will be spared to make it thorough as a means of mental drill and literary culture. It is hoped thus to meet satisfactorily the wants of those who prefer utilitarian to disciplinary studies. Its organization is such that it can be extended and varied by the increase of the number of endowed chairs, until the whole range of the Modern Sciences and Languages is brought within the reach of the student.

THE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The Preparatory Department is intended to prepare young men whose previous opportunities of study have been insufficient to fit them for the Freshman Class, to take up the studies of that class with the greatest advantage to themselves and most credit to the College. Its course is so arranged as to be well suited to the wants of those intending to take either course of the College. An earnest endeavor is made in it to lay a sure and clear foundation for intelligent and rapid progress in the College studies, but parents and guardians are not encouraged to send into it mere boys whose unripe years and immature minds unfit them for the treatment and instruction of a College professor.

ELECTIVE STUDIES.

By the action of the Trustees the study of the Greek and Latin Languages in the Classical Course is made elective after the Sophomore year, and the purpose is to provide the students of both courses such special instruction in the various studies offered to them for their election as may meet the special bent of their own minds, or may be adapted to their anticipated calling in life. Students who may be judged prepared therefor will be allowed to exchange the studies in charge of a professor in the course in which they are enrolled for those in charge of another professor of the other department, provided such exchange does not interfere with the hours of recitation, and is made before either of the studies which it is desired so to exchange have been entered upon by the class to which such student belongs. All arrangements for the elective studies of regular students must be decided upon at the opening of the College year. These elective studies, when once chosen, will be as obligatory as the required studies, and proficiency in them will secure the same credit on the standing of the student as the required. For the purpose of facilitating an intelligent selection among the various studies, a statement by departments is given in the annual catalogue, showing the direction and aim of each.

Any person may enter College and take such studies as he may think best; but all such irregular students will be expected to take at least two daily studies, and, having selected their studies, will be subject to the same discipline and instruction, and required to stand the same examinations, as the regular students in those branches. The scheme of the College is thus so enlarged and flexible in its courses and studies as to meet the wants and adapt itself to the wishes of all who may come, and yet so rigid and earnest in its enforcement of diligence and thoroughness as to ensure the best results for all who enter.

THE COLLEGE YEAR.

The College Year includes three terms and three vacations.

The public Commencement is held on the Wednesday before the third of July.

The First Term begins nine weeks from the day of Commencement, and continues sixteen weeks.

The Second Term begins the first Wednesday of January, and continues eleven weeks.

The Third Term begins twelve weeks before Commencement.

All the Terms begin and end on Wednesday.

It is of great importance that students attend from the very beginning of the Term. All arrangements for board, rooms, &c., and the settlement of College bills, should be attended to in advance. College exercises will begin promptly on the day appointed, and any time lost will reduce the standing of the student.

Absence during Term time without special leave is prohibited.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the College must, first of all, exhibit satisfactory testimonials of good moral character. If they have been members of another College, they will also be expected to present a certificate of dismissal in good standing.

Candidates for admission to any class will be examined in all the previous studies as laid down in the course, and must be proficient in them or their fair equivalent.

No person can be admitted to the Senior Class after the beginning of the College Year.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in the following :

English—English Grammar, including Orthography, Geography—Ancient and Modern.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra, through Quadratic Equations.

Greek—Greek Grammar, Greek Reader, Xenophon's Anabasis—two books; Arnold's Prose Composition--twelve exercises.

Latin--Latin Grammar, with Prosody; Cæsar—three books; Cicero—three orations; Virgil's Æneid—four books; Latin Prose Composition—twenty exercises.

The following text books are used:

Harkness' Latin Grammar; Hadley's or Goodwin's Greek Grammar; Andrew's Latin Lexicon; Liddell and Scott's Greek Lexicon; Anthon's Classical Dictionary; Smith's Dictionary of Antiquities; Long's Atlas of Ancient Geography.

Candidates for the Freshman Scientific should be versed in all the branches studied in the Preparatory Department except Greek and Latin.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations are held at the close of each term upon all the studies of the term; and the final examination of the Senior Class is five weeks before Commencement.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon students who complete the Classical Course and pass the examinations in the same.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred upon students who complete the Scientific Course and pass the examinations in the same.

The degree of Master of Arts or Master of Science is conferred in course upon graduates of three years standing, who make application for it and pay the fees.

Certificates of proficiency may be granted to students who do not graduate, stating the time they have been in connection with the College, the studies pursued, and the progress made.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION AND SERVICES.

The exercises of each day are opened with prayer in the College Chapel, and all the students are required to be present.

All the students are required to attend public worship on the Sabbath at such place as they may choose, or their parents or guardians may direct.

Arrangements have been made with the Second Presbyterian Church of Washington for the President to supply their pulpit, and such of the students as may see fit to attend there have seats furnished them without expense. The evening service is conducted with special reference to the students.

The whole Institution is thoroughly Evangelical in its spirit and tone, and throughout the College course, in all its departments, the principles and duties of the Christian religion are brought continually before the minds of the students, with the purpose, by the blessing of God, of persuading them thereto. This instruction is directed to the fundamentals of our common Christianity in which all Evangelical denominations are agreed, and not to the specialities concerning which they differ.

DISCIPLINE.

A record is kept by the Faculty, in which are entered, from time to time, the grade of scholarship of each student, his absences from the exercises of the Institution, and such other facts as are worthy of notice with respect to his general deportment. From this record a report will be made out at the end of each term, and sent to the parent or guardian of each student. In case of deficiency in scholarship, negligence in study, irregularity in attendance upon the exercises of the College, or other improper conduct, the student will be privately admonished, and the parent or guardian will be informed of the fact.

Parents and guardians will thus be accurately informed with regard to their sons and wards in this College, and their co-operation with the Faculty in the best system of discipline secured.

When it is ascertained that a student is getting no good or doing no good at College, even though he be guilty of no outbreak against the authorities, his parent or guardian will be addressed upon the subject, and requested to remove him from the Institution.

SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in connection with the College—the "Franklin and Washington" and the "Philo and Union." These receive the special encouragement of the Faculty and Trustees, and conduct their own affairs, subject to the regulations made in regard to them by the College. At the close of the second session of each year these Societies meet each other in their Annual Contest, where the selected men of each, in behalf of the Societies they represent, compete for the several honors. These honors are awarded by a bench of impartial judges especially selected for that duty.

The Society of Inquiry is a religious society, organized and carried on by the students themselves, for the consideration of the claims of mankind upon them as educated men. It is obvious that such conferences must be highly advantageous to their best interests as accountable beings. Devotional exercises are a prominent feature in their meetings.

Secret fraternities are discouraged by the Board of Trustees and by the Faculty.

LIBRARIES AND LYCEUM.

Both the Literary Societies and the College have libraries, to which additions will be made as rapidly as practicable, and to which the students, under proper regulations, have access. There is a room set apart for the Lyceum in the buildings, and a considerable collection already secured. Donations to this Lyceum are solicited from the Alumni and the friends of the College.

EXPENSES.

Graduation fee for the first degree, $6.00; for the second, $5.00.

The Scholarships of the old Institutions are both equally good in the consolidated College, and students having such Scholarships of either Institution receive their tuition free; the certificate must, however, be presented to the Treasurer at the beginning of each Term for the proper endorsement and entry.

With these reductions, the necessary expenses of a student need not exceed $175.00 to $300.00 per annum.

All College Fees are to be paid in advance, and no student is enrolled until he presents the Treasurer's receipt.

LOCATION AND ACCESS.

Washington and Jefferson College is located at Washington, the county seat of Washington county, Pa., a place of great healthfulness, beauty of scenery, and excellence of society. It is reached by the Chartiers Valley Railway from Pittsburgh, and by the Wheeling, Pittsburgh & Baltimore Rail Road from Wheeling. Morning and evening trains run both ways on both of these roads, making access easy and convenient.

The College site is in an elegant campus in the midst of the town, and measures are now on foot for the erection thereon of new and ample buildings adapted to the times and the enlarged wants of the Institution.

For further information apply to the President, or any member of the Faculty, at Washington, Pa.
